A Walk for all Seasons

INTRODUCTION

This walk starts in Belchford, nestled in the Wolds, and goes to the attractive hilltop village of Fulletby. Following part of the Viking Way, you can walk through an old meadow and on a clear day enjoy distant views of Lincoln Cathedral.

Absorb the heritage, scenery and wildlife in the heart of the Lincolnshire Wolds.

FULLETBY

Fulletby, at 137m above sea level, is one of the highest villages in Lincolnshire. Nearby transmitters make the village easy to spot on the skyline!

During the 19th century Fulletby was largely self-sufficient. The church, chapel, school, beer house, bakeries and post office catered for the needs of the villagers. It even had its own shoemaker, butcher and blacksmith.

The Skylark

Skylarks are birds of open fields and feed entirely on the ground. In its distinctive song flight, the bird soars, hovers, then plunges toward the ground, levelling out from time to time, pouring out an unbroken stream of song.

Henry Winn 1816 - 1914

Henry's 76 years as parish clerk won him an entry in The Guinness Book of Records. This remarkable man also held posts such as church warden, overseer of the poor, constable, schoolteacher and collector of taxes. He had 21 children all born in Winn Cottage, but only four survived to adulthood. All the family except one daughter are buried in Fulletby churchyard. Winn Cottage was also the village grocery and drapery store, and post office.

Have a look inside the church to see more about Henry Winn.

A circular walk of 4½ miles from Belchford

Allow 2 - 2½ hours walking at a leisurely pace.
The paths can be muddy, so stout shoes or boots are recommended.
There are some stiles and slopes on the walk. For times of buses to Belchford phone Traveline 0871 200 22 33 www.traveline.info

This walk is on Ordnance Survey Explorer map 273.

Don't forget to follow the Countryside Code wherever you go - respect, protect, enjoy.
The route is waymarked with a skyloch symbol.

Start at the Blue Bell Inn in Belchford. With the inn behind you, turn right along Main Road, taking care on this busy rural road. After nearly a mile, turn left along a bridleway 😊.

The bridleway descends to a bridge over the River Waring 😊. As you cross the bridge, the large ash tree on your left is often used by towny owls. Occasionally owl pellets can be seen on the ground nearby.

Heading uphill towards Fullthorpe, you pass tree plantations on your left 😊. Conifers are planted around the edges to provide quick growing shelter for the broad-leaved trees inside.

At the road turn left along Flemingby Lane 😊, following the Viking Way. The Viking Way is 147 mile long distance footpath running from the Humber to Oakham in Rutland.

Turn left down Mill Lane immediately after the garage. Follow the road to the right, passing the church 😊 and Winn Cottage 😊. Turn left along School Lane. At the start of the 'private road', turn right on to the footpath, keeping to the Viking Way.

The field 😊 you are now crossing has very obvious lumps and bumps - the remains of medieval Fullthorpe when it was a much larger village.

Cross the meadow, heading for a gate. Grassland such as this is becoming increasingly rare - common knapweed and ladies' bedstraw grow here. Cross the next field heading towards the left-hand tree in the valley. Go through the kissing gates and follow the uphill boundary of two fields.

From here 😊 you may see the distant tower - Lincoln Cathedral. When you reach the corner of one field keep left along the field boundary, with the hedge on your right. Bear right at the signpost and continue with the hedge on your right.

Go downhill along a short stretch of grassy track, turning off right to stay on the footpath through the area known locally as 'Hills and Holes' 😊, possibly an ancient stone quarry.

Follow the track and turn left at the signpost, cross the field to the River Waring 😊 turning right then shortly left over the brick bridge and continue to join Dam Lane. Turn right along the lane to return to Belchford.

Towards the rear of the inn, you can see the outline of the castle of the de Ferrers family 🏰. They were the feudal lords of Lindsey until 1300 when they were taken over by Henry III. 🏰

New Tree Cottage is over 200 years old and was built in the local red and yellow sandstone with a thatched roof. 😊

The Lincolnshire Wolds

The Lincolnshire Wolds is a nationally important and cherished landscape. Most of it was designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) in 1973. Covering an area of 588 square kilometres or 226 square miles, the AONB contains the highest ground in eastern England between Yorkshire and Kent, rising to over 350m along its western edge. Rolling chalk hills and areas of sandstone and clay underlie this attractive landscape.

The Lincolnshire Wolds has been inhabited since prehistoric times and the appearance of the countryside today has been greatly influenced by past and present agricultural practices.

A Countryside Service helps to protect and enhance the landscape through partnership projects with local landowners, farmers, parish councils, businesses and residents of the Wolds.
